Marshall welcomes STS-98 crew members Friday

Crew members of the Space Shuttle Atlantis STS-98 mission — who attached the U.S. science laboratory Destiny to the International Space Station — will visit Marshall Friday. Destiny was built at the Marshall Center by The Boeing Company. During their visit, the crew will present mission highlights at 10:15 a.m. in Morris Auditorium. In the afternoon, the crew will present “Silver Snoopy” awards to Marshall employees who contributed to the success of the Space Shuttle or International Space Station programs.
